

You are invited to join the Women Business Owners' Mentor Roundtable, a mentoring and support group for existing and start-up women business owners. The group is hosted by the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) and UTSA-Small Business Development Center (UTSA-SBDC).

The two hours will consist of a guest speaker or women panelists, and time for roundtable discussions, as well as, networking at the beginning and end of the program.

By linking you with other women resource partners and entrepreneurs, the Roundtable allows you to tap into the knowledge, experience and support your need to help your business grow and prosper. It also gives you access to resource partners that can provide additional training and counseling.

The best part of the Roundtable format is that it offers what no other networking group does: the ongoing opportunity to relate on an informal basis with a resource base of such diverse nature.

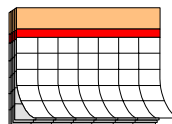

Why should you attend the Roundtables? First, you will build an ongoing network of women and resources that know you and your business. The Roundtable provides an excellent and economical way to get answers to even your most specific business questions, as well as, get feedback and fresh ideas.

What does it take to be part of this dynamic group – a woman who:

- ◆ Wants to develop contacts to grow her business.
- ◆ Shows potential for success and entrepreneurial growth.
- ◆ Has a willingness to share ideas and to learn from others.

Start-ups are most welcomed, as you will learn from the experienced !
